CRAZY SNAKE CAPTURED.

Guthrie, Okla., March 31—Crazy Snake has been captured. He is being held under heavy guard at Thompson's farm west of Checotah. This was confirmed by a telephone message from Muskogee at 1:30 this (Wednesday) morning. He will be taken to jail in Muskogee at daybreak. It is reported that he was captured without any show of resistance, and that he was suffering from wounds received in a previous encounter with deputies.

CONCERT AT ELITE THEATRE TO NIGHT.

The Foster Street Methodist Sunday School has engaged the LaDell-Fox Concert Co., to appear at the Elite theatre to night for the benefit of the names to the Sunday School room and an evening of pleasure is promised this company being considered an attraction of high class. Admission, adults 50c, children 25c. Tickets at Strickland's Jewelry Store. Seats reserved with extra charge.

WOMAN BLACKMAILER SHOT DOWN.

Washington Ind., March 30.—A woman was shot last night as she picked up a decoy prepared after Bunker N. G. Read had received a letter, demanding that he deposit $30,000 at a designated post. A man accompanying the woman escaped unharmed and the police are looking for him. The woman was peppered with bird shot.

Read is the president of the First National Bank of this city. The letter he received demanded that he place the money in a box to be left at the east gate of a post office building at 9 p.m. yesterday. He was given instructions to leave the box and run for his life upon receiving the threatening communication. Mr. Read had the matter before the police and at the appointed hour officers were secreted in the neighboring houses.

The bank president made his way to the gate placed the decoy box and ran as instructed. A few minutes later the man and woman in the case appeared at the post office and walked to the east gate the woman running to the bank companion and

PLANTING IT IN CORN.

A. A. Cobb, an ex-convict from Georgia, south of the present state, around the age of 20, in the full possession of his hot play, though not over 100 lbs. in weight, is the boy who planted the peas and beans he claimed to have sown in the field, in other words, he is a poor hobo plant.

DESSIE BAKER ILL IN MONTGOMERY.

Mr. J. H. Baker left here yesterday morning for Montgomery to see his daughter, Miss Essie, who had developed a case of appendicitis at the Hill School.

The object of his visit was to have an operation performed which he found

At 4 a.m. early this morning

it was stated that Essie was getting along all right but a later call about noon requested Mrs. Baker to come up this evening to see how he was doing so well. It turned the young man in an dan gerous condition.

A NEWS STAND ROMANCE.

An American boy weary of getting late women, an old fashioned girl, a young American popular member of the Sunday school, declared his love to her and told how much he longed for suburban life and good housekeeping. She was in this time impressed with such an ardent exponent of Physical Culture. The other girl seemed more timid, however, and she decided to become the Younger Companion and have her own home and teeth, even though it should entail

Dredging in the Home. They went to the Judge and were married. Then they decided to travel and start out across the Pacific followed by Everybody's vehicles for success in life.

K OF P MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT.

The Dothan Lodge K of P. will meet tomorrow night. Work in the third degree will be done and a full attendance is desired.

MARRIED SUNDAY.

Mr. John A. McLeod of Somonau and Miss Lula Underwood were married last Sunday at the home of the bride, three miles west of the city. Rev. H. A. Smith performed the ceremony.

EASTERN STAR.

The Order of Eastern Star meets at M. E. C. Hall tomorrow afternoon at the usual hour. The question of changing time of meeting will be voted on.

Business is steadily improving and is better now than it has been for some time.

Ohio is going dryer and more dry each time the question is voted on up there.

Since Mr. Roosevelt has sailed away, it has become necessary for his boy, Theodore Jr. to deny that he himself is about to marry.

One can stay right here in Dothan and buy almost anything they require Traveling men never in their rounds leave here so disappointed that they never come back.

Just think a minute Don't you think a want ad would bring the desired results? Reduce the thought to action, take the matter up with us and let us make you a monthly rate.

The compiler of such statistics declares that families in the United States are getting smaller each year. We believe, however, that there are more families, for marriage still flourishes as an institution.

Representative Bennett of New York is seeking some Crumpacker notoriety by introducing a bill to cut down Southern representation in congress. He would have Alabama's congressional reduced in number to five instead of nine, and so on, in each of the Southern states. Had it not been for the introduction of this bill, it is probable he would never have been heard from outside of his district in New York.

MORE CHANGES

Spring styles have changed again, according to the Styles and Fashions, and it is said that men in evening clothes will resemble prize fighters in chest measurement. If one has a chest, they pad it more. If they have no hips, the tailor puts on a lot of saddle blanket stuff and makes some, since it isn't stylish any longer for the ladies to wear them.

MIXED UP.

In the county of Buckinghamshire, England, it has been discovered that some awful blunders were made. For fifty years or so the Parish Church, of St James Bradwell, has been a Mecca for marriage ceremonies. People came from far and near to be married there, and now the fact is brought to light that this particular church has never been licensed to celebrate marriages.

Just how they will get around the question is not known for it takes an Englishman a long time to see a joke, it is said, but they are beginning to figure on passing a lot of laws that will legalize all the marriages that have been celebrated in the church.

ABOUT THIS TOWN

This town has reached a stage of its existence, when the principal residential streets can only be occupied by men who have the money to pay for living up close. This is the turning point. It can't be many more years before the ears will be running in and out of this town like shuttles to an old time loom like your mind to use. They are coming. We are one of the spokes in the wheel of progress that is rising.

When cars are running hourly to and from Eufaula, Abbeville, H. Adair, Slocum, Hartford, Gadsden and other points within reach of Dothan you will find our minded people going back to farm life. They will want a country home, a distance out that will be covered by a 5 cent fast way out where they can go to sleep with the song of the whip poor will or sit on the veranda barefooted if you will, and watch the lightning bugs. Then nobody will live up to the business district but they who can't afford to live out in the suburbs.

This is no dream. Ten years ago one wouldn't have been called a dreamer even but a fool if he had predicted for Dothan the things which she has achieved.

Dothan property now is the best security. You can borrow money on it when your stocks in Western mining companies if offered would only create a laugh. You are safer when your money is secured by Dothan dirt, than if backed by the government. It is better than government bonds for the population here is a growing one. Values are steadily increasing at a healthy rate and they will continue each year with the passing of time.

THE TOWN DOG

The dog as may be found by reference to any standard work on natural history is a useful and intelligent animal having a keen and an appetite and a highly expressive tail and a voice of much range and compass and other charming attributes which make him an ornament to his sex says the Emporia Gazette.

While it cannot be said with absolute certainty that there are no fleas on the dog, it is generally admitted that the dog which is properly trained is an admirable institution and nobody would urge that he should be officially expunged from the record a dog as world would be a Johnson doce, sure enough.

The trouble with the average town dog is that his education has been neglected and he has no proper conception of the rights of others, he imagines that he has the right of way at all times and reason and nothing is sacred to him. Being a frugal and thrifty animal with an inborn desire to lay up something for a rainy day he spends much of his spare time making an accumulation of old bones and kilidied fossils and there is no convenient storehouse in his master's premises he does not hesitate to establish his private safety deposit vault on neighbor's lawn.

He is also equipped with a praiseworthy thirst for knowledge, and when he sees a flower bed he digs under it to see what makes the beautiful flowers grow.

Being affectionate he likes to greet his human acquaintances with proper warmth and in order to do this he paws them and spoils their shirt fronts.

Holding with Shakespeare that people should be charmed by the sound of sweet singing he is even to singing and it is the fault of his education that he usually chooses an inappropriate hour for recital, people who have trouble getting to sleep say that it is quite annoying to hear a dog trying to sing a Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star at 2 o'clock in the morning.

In fact with all his lovable qualities the town dog causes a good deal of worry and sorrow in the course of his eventful life and the fact is becoming generally recognized by students of etiquette that the owner of the gifted creature should try to limit the sphere of his activities a dog in your own backyard is a well spring of pleasure, when he is given the run of the neighborhood he is sure to cause hard feelings and language that does not deviate with a thorough religious training.

Miss Farmer Entertains

Tuesday afternoon from four to six o'clock Miss Evelyn Farmer entertained at a beautiful reception in honor of her visitors Mrs. Conner of Tuscaloosa and Mrs. Lassiter of Montgomery.

The guests were greeted in the reception hall by Miss Barbara and Miss Bertha Faircloth.

Receiving in the parlor with Mrs. Farmer were Mrs. Conner, Mrs. Lassiter and Mrs. W. F. McClellan. Miss Farmer wore a fancy cream chiffon over pale yellow taffeta. Mrs. Lassiter wore a lovely gown of violet messaline and Mrs. Conner was dressed in black satin. Mrs. McClellan was attired in a lovely director costume of blue messaline with hat to match.

The holly decorations used in the handsome parlor were pure white carnations and plumes arranged in cut glass vases.

In the dining room where an elegant buffet luncheon was served Mrs. B. G. Farmer presided and was assisted by Miss Jennie Farmer, Miss Tom Sule, Miss Mayme Faircloth, Miss M. Howard Shea and Miss Clifford Faircloth. The dining room table was lovely in its appointments with a centerpiece of finest Mexican drawn work on which rested a magnificent crystal vase of pink carnations and plumes.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Farmer is noted for its atmosphere of pure Southern hospitality which pervades it on all occasions and on yesterday afternoon the reception given in honor of their charming guests Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Lassiter was the scene of a most delightful gathering of the ladies of our little city, to do honor to their guests.

Mrs. B. G. Farmer, Mrs. Conner, Mrs. Lassiter and Miss Evelyn Farmer left this morning for Panama City, where they will spend some time.

A Tribute to the Memory of

Mrs. C. Hatcher

When I took up my pen to write a tribute to the memory of Annie Young Hatcher these words of Kipling came to my mind:

"And only the Master shall praise me and only the Master shall blame,

And no one shall work for me and no one shall work for him But each for the joy of the working and each in his separate star shall draw the thing he has set for the God of things as they are."

This model specimen of content is for the life of spirit of the Rev. J. Christy, "one word" Friend. He carries me withly & joyfully she told I speak of him of her Lord and Master whom she had served so faithfully here.

Fairly in life Annie Young gave her heart to her Master and at the age of fourteen she became a member of the Lester Street Methodist Church. She was exemplary and true to her church teacher and her Sunday School teacher who enjoyed her presence for years in the class well past this tribute to her as a pupil.

She was never absent and never without a thoroughly prepared lesson. She passed among us quietly and unostentatiously and worked not for the praise of the world, and the example of such sweet pure and lovely life will have the most lasting influence for good.

It was hard for her to give up life so young not yet thirty but it was not from fear of meeting her God but sorrow at leaving her love but loved once her husband and dear little daughter. Her who will never number her motherhood, a devoted father, mother and sisters and a host of relatives who loved her and who bid her dear.

It was not anything she said. It was not anything she did. It was the movement of her head. The lifting of her lid.

And as she trod her path amidst Power from her very garment stole. For such is the mysterious high
